

was known as the "Gibson Farm." On October 27, 1919, she gave bail in the case of State vs. Andrew Leitner, #21547, in Jersey City, her brother Andrew Leitner being accused of stealing something from a colored man's car. At that time she gave her name as "Jane Gibson." (Gregory 9/24/26)

Mr. Lord 4 yrs ago was in the bootlegging business. He employed a man named Harry Fritz as his assistant in shifting the liquor, and on the night of the crime Harry Fritz was with Mrs. Gibson the entire evening from about dark to 11 o'clock and that Fritz told Lord that Mrs. Gibson saw nothing of the kind that she said she saw. (Letter to Senator Case 9/24/26)

James Glynn, employed by the Raritan Coal Co. at Sanford St., N.B., stated that he lived on the Gibson farm with his wife for about 5 months when he became sick. Mrs. Gibson then dispossessed them. G.T.P. 9/25/26

Sgt. Breen of 104th Field Artillery, 67th St. & Bdway, states that he remembers Jane Gibson and mule had a tent with the Marine Million Dollar Circus between March 17th and March 24, 1923. (Commander Carpenter 9/26/26)

Mr. McCormick, steward at Rutgers College messhall, said that Jane Gibson collected the garbage there for two years. The privilege was taken from Mrs. Gibson ~~because~~ when the office received an offer of $50 from a man for the privilege, Mrs. Gibson became very incensed over it and went to the college authorities claiming that she had been paying McCormick $100 for permission to take the garbage away. McCormick stated that he never received a cent but that her statements almost caused him his job. Mr. Thomas, the cook at Rutgers College, stated that Mrs. Gibson never paid him any money, in fact, he never said very much to her at any time. G.T.P. 9/27/26
